REGISTRATION, entry fee and ELIGIBILITY

Registration takes place online using the registration form on our homepage.

<https://www.rvillach.at/eventanmeldeformular>

We require an entry fee to participate, the net proceeds of which not only go towards maintaining the sports equipment. A large part of it goes into competitive sports and youth work and thus helps us to pursue our club goals with the necessary effort.

TRAINING

The training sessions begin approximately 3-4 weeks before the event. A team has the opportunity to reserve up to 4 appointments lasting 1 hour. The possible training times will be published in time with the training plan on our homepage. The team leader reserves a training date online. The training is only possible in the evenings, holidays and weekends are free of training.

MODE

The race is divided into the following phases

1. Draw: The draw for the pairings and the order for the heats will take place in good time before the first race.
2. Preliminary 1: The teams drawn together start the race in the order drawn, with the aim of achieving the shortest possible running time.
3. Preliminary 2: Starts immediately after the races for Preliminary 1 with the two teams that took the most time to complete the course, followed by the other team pairings that result from the running time up to the two fastest teams. (subject to change!)
4. Rating: The time from heat 1 and heat 2 added together gives you the place in the ranking list
5. Finals: The teams have the task of maintaining or improving their place in the rankings. The ranking list is divided into groups of two; 1st-2nd/3rd-4th/ etc. The two teams in such a pairing compete against each other again for the better placement in this group of two. How many final races will be contested will be decided at short notice, taking into account the weather and the schedule. Teams that do not compete in the finals retain their position in the rankings.

We reserve the right to make changes to the event mode, for example due to weather or other reasons. A change in the format of the event will be announced to the team captains in due course.
